Children are our most precious possession.

October 2013

New Website Coming Soon!!

In a couple of months going to www.floraschools.com will still take you to the school district website but the site will look drastically different. We are in the process of redesigning and upgrading our current website.

With the new design, our hope is to make the site a source of up to date information that is easy to navigate. There will be main pages for the district as well as a page for each building. Within each of the main pages, there will be links to other internal web pages that will provide important information about specific departments, organizations, important information, and upcoming events.

One of the focuses for the district is to increase our communication within an outside the district and we are hoping this website helps in this area. If you have input or suggestions on what to include on the website or areas of improvement for the district in general, please contact Joel me at 662-2412 or e-mail me at jhackney@floraschools.com
